Issuance of General Notice of the Hebron Public Review and Request for Submissions

The commencement of the Hebron Public Review was formally signalled on August 25, with the referral of the Development Application to the Commissioner by the C-NLOPB. The public review is an independent assessment of the Hebron Project Development Application. The Commissioner, Miller Ayre, welcomes public involvement at every stage of the review process.

The first stage of the review process, to determine whether additional information should be provided by ExxonMobil before convening Public Review Sessions, is underway. Submissions to request additional information about the Development Application must be received at the Commissioner's office by Friday, September 23, 2011. Detailed procedures as to how to make a submission to the Commissioner can be found in the Commission's Operational Procedures. A call for submissions to make presentations at Public Review Sessions reviewing the merits of the Development Application will be made at a later date.

The Development Plan, the Benefits Plan, and the Commissioner's Terms of Reference and Operating Procedures are posted to the Hebron Public Review's website, www.hebronpublicreview.ca.
